

For children with mental illnesses:

76% of their families are involved in treatment they receive.
88% of their families are involved in person-centered planning.

For adolescents with mental illnesses:

72% of their families are involved in treatment they receive.
90% of their families are involved in person-centered planning.

For adults with mental illnesses:

26% of their families are involved in treatment they receive.
37% of their families are involved in person-centered planning.

Read the report: Semi-annual Report to the Legislative Oversight Committee on MH/DD/SAS 4/08

Data source: NC-TOPPS (NC treatment Outcomes & Program Performance System) Initial interviews 7/1/06-6/30/2007 matched to 3-month follow-up interviews.